Holy Spirit

Holy Spirit

The Objective is the key concept for this weeks lesson. It should be the main focus of the study

These are the key verses that you will find helpful in teaching your study this week. The "Main passage" is the basis of the study, where the other verse support the objective of the lesson.

There is a memory verse for the students that relates to every study. If a student can memorize the verse for the following week you may give them a prize from the "reward box" found on your cart.

An introductory activity or question that will settle the class, draw their attention to the study and prepare their hearts for God's Word

Objective To introduce the students to the third member of the Trinity.

Key Verses

John 14:15-18

John 14:25-28

Romans 8:26

Memory Verse - Romans 10:13 (November Memory Verse)

"For everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved."

Hook

Three legged walk

Tie the legs of two of the children together using the material provided. Now have the students do a "three legged walk" around the room. Show the other students how the three legs all have to work together in order for the students to be able to actually get anywhere.

Tell the students that the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit all work together in the same way. God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit all work together so that you and I can have life.

What does the Bible say? This is where we will read a passage or series of passages that teach on the subject of the day.

In John chapter 14 Jesus reveals to His disciples that He is preparing to leave them. He tells them that He is going somewhere that they cannot follow, but that He will prepare a place for them, and one day return to take His people to be in that place with Him.

The disciples become quite distressed at the thought of Jesus leaving them, no understanding that this part of His ministry must take place. Jesus encourages them that while he must depart, He will not leave His disciples alone. Instead Jesus promises them that He will send another helper, the Spirit of truth who the world will not see or understand, but who will know, because He lives inside of us. Jesus promises that this Spirit will remain with us forever, and will never have to depart from us in the same that Jesus is departing.

Jesus then goes on to give more information about who this Spirit is. He calls him, "The Holy Spirit," who will help us, teach us, lead us into all truth, and help us to remember the things that Jesus has told us.

The interpretation/exegesis of the passage. What does this passage mean? How does this passage apply to my life?

LOOK

In the past few months, while we have been studying the names of God, we have looked at God the Father, and then at God the Son. Now we are going to start looking at the final member of the Godhead, God the Holy Spirit.

The Holy Spirit is a strange thing to think about. He loves us, but He doesn't have a body. He talks to us, but He doesn't have a mouth. He holds us and carries us, but He doesn't have arms and hands.

The Holy Spirit is just that, a spirit. Jesus sent Him to be in the world with us while we wait for Him to return.

There are many things that the Holy Spirit does for us. In John 14 Jesus calls Him the "Helper." The question must be asked, how can a Spirit, who doesn't have a body, help us?

The first way that the Holy Spirit helps us, is that he reminds us about Jesus. There will be times when you will be talking to someone and a Bible verse, or a Bible story will just pop into your head. That is the work of the Holy Spirit, who is constantly bringing our eyes, and our thoughts back to Jesus.

The second thing that Holy Spirit helps us to do is pray. The Bible tells us in Romans 8:26 that sometimes when we don't know how to talk to God, that He will encourage us, and speak for us, in words that we would have never thought to use. The Holy Spirit reminds us who God is, and helps us to spend time with Him and talk to Him.

Lastly the Holy Spirit helps us in our every day lives. You might hear your Mom or Dad say "I just feel like I am supposed to go a different way to church today." The Holy Spirit, who lives inside us, may have prompted your mom or dad to do that to avoid something bad that might have happened, or so that they might see or hear something really good that they wouldn't have done if they had gone the other way.

The Holy Spirit is our friend, who lives inside all believers, and who promises to wait with us until Jesus, our savior, returns to take us to Heaven.

What is my response to this passage of Scripture? How should my life change according to what this passage teaches me? What are the practical things I can do throughout the week to make this true in my life.

TOOK

Review the lesson by asking the class who the Holy Spirit is, what He does, and how He helps us.

Pray: Thank the Lord for sending the Holy Spirit to help us in so many different ways. Praise Him for living in us, and watching out for us, and for reminding us to think about Jesus. Ask Him for lead us and guide us in His truth.

Parent Question: Who is the Holy Spirit and what does He do?

FURTHER STUDY

John 14 Commentary by David Guzik

(15-17) When Jesus departs, He will send the Holy Spirit.

“If you love Me, keep My commandments. And I will pray the Father, and He will give you another Helper, that He may abide with you forever; the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees Him nor knows Him; but you know Him, for He dwells with you and will be in you.”

a. If you love Me, keep My commandments: Jesus had just demonstrated His remarkable love to the disciples by washing their feet (John 13:1-5). He told them what their loving response should be; to keep His commandments.

- He commanded them to wash one another's feet, after the example He just displayed (John 13:14-15)
- He commanded them to love one another after the pattern of His love to them (John 13:34)
- He commanded them to put their faith in God the Father and in Jesus Himself (John 14:1)

i. Keeping the commandments of Jesus does speak to our personal morality, yet His emphasis was on love for others and faith in Him as demonstrations of obedience to His commandments.

ii. This is a fair measure of our love for Jesus. It is easy to think of loving Jesus in merely sentimental or emotional terms. It is wonderful when our love for Jesus has sentiment and passion, but it must always be connected to keeping His commandments, or it isn't love at all.

iii. For the believer, disobedience is not only a failure of performance or a failure of strength. In some sense, it is also a failure of love. Those who love God most obey Him most joyfully and naturally. To say, “I really love Jesus. I just don't want Him to tell me how to live my life” is a terrible misunderstanding of both Jesus and love to Him.

iv. Jesus also spoke to the proper source of our obedience. It isn't fear, pride, or desire to earn blessing. The proper source of obedience is love. “Obedience must have love for its mother, nurse, and food. The essence of obedience lies in the hearty love which prompts the deed rather than in the deed itself.” (Spurgeon)

v. “Some persons think that if they love Jesus, they must enter a convent, retire to a cell, dress themselves queerly, or shave their heads. It has been the thought of some men, ‘If we love Christ we must strip ourselves of everything we possess, put on sackcloth, tie ropes round our waists, and pine in the desert.’ Others have thought it wise to make light of themselves by oddity of dress and behavior. The Savior does not say anything of the kind; but, ‘If ye love me, keep my commandments.’” (Spurgeon)

b. I will pray the Father, and He will give you another Helper: This was the second in this series of three assurances. The disciples feared, “Jesus is abandoning us. When He leaves we won't know what to do.” They wouldn't have less help; they would have more help because the Father would send another Helper.

i. Jesus understood that His disciples (both those with Him on that evening and those across the centuries) would need God's presence and power to keep His commandments. God the Son promised to pray to God the Father and ask for the giving of God the Holy Spirit to the believer to accomplish this.

ii. This statement is one wonderful example of the Trinitarian idea of God woven into the fabric of the New Testament. Jesus didn't intend to give a complicated lecture on the Trinity; He simply spoke of how the Persons of the Trinity interact and work for the good of God's people and the furtherance of His plan.

iii. The sense is that this prayer would be made when Jesus ascended to heaven. "I will pray betokens, probably, a manner of asking implying actual presence and nearness, -- and is here used of the mediatorial office in Christ's ascended state." (Alford)

c. He will give you another Helper: The word Helper translates the ancient Greek word parakletos. This word has the idea of someone called to help someone else, and it could refer to an advisor, a legal defender, a mediator, or to an intercessor.

i. The King James Version translates parakletos with the word Comforter. That translation made more sense understanding the meaning of the word in older English. "Wicliff, from whom we have our word Comforter, often used 'comfort' for the Latin confortari, which means to strengthen... Thus the idea of help and strength is conveyed by it, as well as of consolation." (Alford)

ii. One way to understand the work of the Helper is to understand the opposite of that work. "The devil is called the accuser, κατηγορος, in full opposition to this name and title given here to the Holy Spirit." (Trapp)

iii. Another Helper: The word another is the ancient Greek word allos, meaning "another of the same kind" (Tenney) in contrast to another of a different kind. Just as Jesus shows the nature of God the Father, so the Holy Spirit - being another of the same kind - would show the nature of Jesus.

iv. "That our Lord here calls the Holy Spirit 'another Comforter (allon paraklhtov)' implies that He Himself claimed to be also a paraklhtov, as John in his first epistle (1 John 2:1) calls Him." (Trench)

v. It would be wonderful to live the Christian life with Jesus beside us each step of the way. Jesus promised that the Holy Spirit would fulfill just that role for us, being sent to empower and help the believer. The greater work described in John 14:12-14 is impossible without the empowering described in John 14:15-18.

d. That He may abide with you forever: Jesus would give the Holy Spirit so that He (indicating a person, not a thing) may abide in us permanently and not temporarily, as in giving of the Holy Spirit in the Old Testament.

i. "The Advocate will be with the disciples 'for ever'. The new state of affairs will be permanent. The Spirit once given will not be withdrawn." (Morris)

e. Whom the world cannot receive: The world cannot understand or receive the Spirit, because He is Holy and true. The Spirit of truth is not popular in an age of lies, and the world cannot perceive the Spirit and does not know Him.

i. "If the world cannot receive the Holy Spirit, shall we wonder that we in our collective worldliness see and show collectively so little of His power?" (Trench)

f. But you know Him, for He dwells with you and will be in you: Jesus spoke of three aspects of a disciple's relationship to the Holy Spirit.

- In contrast to the world, the disciple of Jesus should know the Holy Spirit
- In contrast to the world, the disciple of Jesus should have the Holy Spirit with them
- In contrast to the world, the disciple of Jesus should have the Holy Spirit in them.

i. For those 11 disciples, the Holy Spirit was already with them, and would later be in them. This was fulfilled when Jesus breathed on them and they received the Holy Spirit, when they were regenerated and born again (John 20:22).

ii. In addition to with and in, Jesus used a third preposition to describe the relationship of the disciple to the Holy Spirit: you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you (Acts 1:8). This upon experience is the baptism of the Holy Spirit, the outpouring of the Spirit.

iii. "Between Christ on earth and his disciples what a distance there was! In his condescension he came very near to them; but yet you always perceive a gulf between the wise Master and the foolish disciples. Now the Holy Ghost annihilates that distance by dwelling in us." (Spurgeon)

3. (18-21) When Jesus departs, He will make Himself known to His disciples.

"I will not leave you orphans; I will come to you. A little while longer and the world will see Me no more, but you will see Me. Because I live, you will live also. At that day you will know that I am in My Father, and you in Me, and I in you. He who has My commandments and keeps them, it is he who loves Me. And he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and manifest Myself to him."

a. I will not leave you orphans; I will come to you: Jesus began His third assurance. The disciples feared, "When Jesus leaves, then our discipleship program is over and it has barely started." Their discipleship program wasn't finished; it was only just beginning.

i. "The disciples of a particular teacher among the Hebrews called him father; his scholars were called his children, and, on his death, were considered as orphans." (Clarke)

ii. Spurgeon considered several ways that the followers of Jesus are not like orphans.

- An orphan has parents who are dead; the Spirit shows us Jesus is alive
- An orphan left alone; the Spirit draws us close to God's presence
- An orphan has lost their provider; the Spirit provides all things
- An orphan is left without instruction; the Spirit teaches us all things
- An orphan has no defender; the Spirit is protector

b. I will come to you: Jesus again promised to come to the disciples (previously in John 14: 3). This was a broad promise fulfilled by His resurrection, by the sending of the Spirit, and by the promise of His bodily return to this earth.

i. "Every phase of his promised coming is embraced in this assurance: 'I am coming to you.'" (Bruce)

c. The world will see Me no more, but you will see Me: This was true in one sense when Jesus rose from the dead. Yet it true even when He ascended to heaven. Jesus would reveal Himself to the disciples in a real and powerful way after His departure. They would see Him a way even greater than seeing Him with physical sight.

i. The Apostle Paul later wrote, Even though we have known Christ according to the flesh, yet now we know Him thus no longer (2 Corinthians 5:16). There was something more compelling about knowing Jesus by the Spirit than even knowing Him in the flesh.

d. Because I live, you will live also: The disciples would not only see Jesus by the Spirit, they would also continue to live in Jesus through the work of the Holy Spirit. Their dependence on the life of Jesus would not end when He departed; it would continue in greater measure through the Holy Spirit.

i. "A man is saved because Christ died for him, he continues saved because Christ lives for him. The sole reason why the spiritual life abides is because Jesus lives."(Spurgeon)

e. You will know that I am in My Father, and you in Me, and I in you: Through the Holy Spirit they would know a life of relationship, shared life, and union with God the Father, God the Son, and in the disciple.

- This union is marked by knowledge of God's will (has My commandments)
- This union is marked by obedience to God's will (and keeps them)
- This union is marked by love (is he who loves me)
- This union is marked by relationship and reception of love with God the Father (will be loved by My Father)
- This union is marked by a revelation of Jesus Himself (and manifest Myself to him)
- All this flows from the union with God in the disciple through the Holy Spirit

i. This relationship is for the disciple's experience now, not only in the age to come. "For he reserves not all for the life to come, but gives a grape of Canaan in this wilderness, such as the world never tasted of." (Trapp)

ii. He who has My commandments and keeps them, it is he who loves Me: "The love to which Christ promises a manifestation of Himself is not an idle sentiment or shallow fancy, but a principle prompting obedience." (Dods)

iii. He who has My commandments: "The man who loves Christ is the one who 'has' His commandments and keeps them. To 'have' commandments is an unusual expression and does not seem to be exactly paralleled (though cf. 1 John 4:21). The meaning appears to be to make the commandments one's own, to take them into one's inner being." (Morris)

As Jesus departs, He gives the gift of the Holy Spirit and His peace.

1. (25-27) The departing Jesus leaves the gifts of the Holy Spirit and His peace.

"These things I have spoken to you while being present with you. But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things that I said to you. Peace I leave with you, My peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

a. The Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name: Jesus first mentioned the Helper in John 14:16. He returned to the wonderful promise that as He left them with His physical presence, Jesus would ask the Father to send the Holy Spirit to help His disciples.

i. Will send in My name: The Holy Spirit is sent to the disciples on the merits of Jesus and in the nature, the character of Jesus. "The Spirit would be Jesus' officially designated representative to act in his behalf." (Tenney)

- The disciple does not have to ask for the Spirit on his or her own merit; they can receive Him in the merit of Jesus
- The disciple should expect that the work of the Spirit would look like the nature and character of Jesus as revealed in God's Word

ii. This is another wonderful example of the truth of the Trinity woven into the fabric of the New Testament.

God the Father sends God the Holy Spirit at the request of God the Son.

iii. The Holy Spirit: “This characteristic designation, found throughout the New Testament, does not draw attention to the power of the Spirit, His greatness, or the like. For the first Christians the important thing was that He is holy.” (Morris)

b. He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things that I said to you: In His departure, Jesus finished His direct work of teaching the disciples as a rabbi taught disciples. Their training was not finished, but would be continued by the Helper, the Holy Spirit.

i. The Holy Spirit would teach the disciples what more they needed to know and would also supernaturally bring to remembrance the words of Jesus, both for their own benefit and for the writing of the Gospels.

ii. This means that the work of the Spirit would be a work of continuation. His teaching would continue what Jesus already taught. The Spirit does not wipe clear the previous teaching of Jesus and begin again. “The Spirit will not dispense with the teachings of Jesus. The teaching to be recalled is His.” (Morris)

iii. There is something general in this promise for every believer. The Holy Spirit teaches us and brings God’s word to our remembrance (if we are careful to receive it). Yet the fullness of this promise was reserved for those first-generation disciples and apostles, upon whom Jesus established the church (Ephesians 2:20).

iv. “It is on the fulfillment of this promise to the Apostles, that their sufficiency as Witnesses of all that the Lord did and taught, and consequently THE AUTHENTICITY OF THE GOSPEL NARRATIVE, is grounded.” (Alford)

c. Peace I leave with you, My peace I give to you: In one sense this was a common thing to say at a departure in that culture, to wish peace (shalom) to others as you left them. Jesus took this normal good-bye and filled it with deep strength and meaning.

i. “It was customary to take leave with wishes of peace: -- so 1 Samuel 1:17; Luke 7:50; Acts 16:36; 1 Peter 5:14; 3 John 15.” (Alford) “ ‘Peace (shalom) be with you’ was (and is) the usual Jewish greeting when friends met and parted.” (Bruce)

ii. Not as the world gives do I give to you: When someone in that ancient culture said peace as they departed, they said it without any special meaning. It was like when we say goodbye. Literally that means, God be with you - but we don’t really mean it that way. Jesus wanted them to know that when He said peace I leave with you, it wasn’t in the casual, empty way that most people said it.

iii. The peace of this world is often based on distraction or deliberate blindness and lies. Jesus offers a better peace, a real peace.

iv. Jesus had no inheritance or fortune to leave to His followers in a last will and testament. Yet Jesus gave them two things greater than any fortune: the presence and power of the Holy Spirit, and the peace of Jesus Himself. This is the peace of God the Son, with His complete trusting love in God the Father.

v. “He carefully described the peace as ‘My peace.’ His peace was a heart untroubled and unfearful in spite of all the suffering and conflict ahead of Him.” (Morgan)

vi. “In the Bible the word for peace, shalom, never means simply the absence of trouble. It means everything which makes for our highest good. The peace which the world offers us is the peace of escape, the peace which comes from the avoidance of trouble and from refusing to face things.” (Barclay)
